

ELEXIS Observer Agreement

The Institute of Journalism of Borys Grinchenko Kyiv University declares itself willing to commit itself for Observer status in ELEXIS (European Lexicographic Infrastructure – Grant Agreement No 731015) for the duration of the project, until 31th January 2022.

During this period, ELEXIS infrastructure (represented through Jožef Stefan Institute, Ljubljana, Slovenia) commits itself to grant the Institute of Journalism of Borys Grinchenko Kyiv University the following privileges:

- Institute of Journalism of Borys Grinchenko Kyiv University will receive priority invitations to newly developed ELEXIS tools and services;
- Institute of Journalism of Borys Grinchenko Kyiv University will be able to request customized lexicographic data or have their existing data enriched and expanded with monolingual and multilingual information; the extent of this service shall be subject to further specification detailed in annexes to this agreement;
- Institute of Journalism of Borys Grinchenko Kyiv University will be granted access to external and internal ELEXIS communication channels to be able to follow latest developments, which includes invitations to ELEXIS grant calls;
- Institute of Journalism of Borys Grinchenko Kyiv University will gain access to open-access and open-source resources, as well as to resources in the observers' area of the ELEXIS cloud, in accordance with project Intellectual Property Rights rules;
- Institute of Journalism of Borys Grinchenko Kyiv University will be able to participate actively in the post-project ELEXIS infrastructure development through designated ELEXIS channels.

The Institute of Journalism of Borys Grinchenko Kyiv University commits itself to contribute the following (lexicographic) data or (lexicographic) expertise to ELEXIS infrastructure:

- e-learning resource "Lexical minimum of media studies", which is designed as an interactive (audiovisual) electronic dictionary with the possibility of information retrieval of terms (in progress: <https://allasolonenko.github.io/LexicalMinimumMediaStudies/>) and to participate in ELEXIS activities (such as surveys, interviews etc.) designed to collect information about lexicographic projects, workflows and infrastructures.

No financial obligation is requested from either party by this agreement.

The Institute of Journalism of Borys Grinchenko Kyiv University appoints Dr Victoria Ivashchenko, Deputy Director for Scientific Work Institute of Journalism of Borys Grinchenko Kyiv University, v.ivashchenko@kubg.edu.ua to represent it as an Observer in ELEXIS.

Jožef Stefan Institute is represented by Simon Krek, coordinator of the ELEXIS project.
